towards meeting the shelter problems of low income categories.

(b) A statement indicating estimated year-wise inflow of funds under the NRI scheme for investment in housing and real estate development is as under:

Year	Inflow (Rs. in crores)
1993	0.85
1994	10.19
1995	53.58
1996	112.48
1997	188.36
Total	365.46

(c) The involvement of non Resident Indians/Multinational Companies is expected to serve the following objectives:

1. To meet the resources gap in the housing sector which is highly capital intensive but capital deficient. The added advantage will be augmentation of foreign exchange reserves.

2. To bring in more efficiency on the supply side by getting in the international promoters to participate in the housing sector. This would also help in meeting the technological, professional and management gaps in the sector which will, in turn, improve the efficiency and performance in the sector.

3. To make the housing sector, in the longer run, more competitive in terms of resources, technology, human capital and building material.

4. To promote new constituencies for reforms and buill up international interests therein for financial and regulatory developments applicable to the housing sector at the State level. Public agencies in partnership with the overseas investors may constitute a viable model for efficient provision of infrastructure and construction activities through foreign capital and know-how.
